RUMORS OF BOLT ARE ALL DENIED; AWAIT REPORTS

COLONEL'S MEN STILL FIGHTING TO HAVE ROOSEVELT DELEGATES SEATED—ASK FOR BUT 50 NOW—EXCITEMENT THIS MORNING.

COMMITTEE VOTES YES ON ROOT FOR PERMANENT CHAIRMAN

Only Part of Committee's Present—Minority Side Walks Out—Rumor That Teddy Released Delegates Is Denied—Roosevelt Will Not Quit—All Night Session Predicted—Recess All Afternoon.

BULLETIN 4:45 P. M.

The convention was called to order this afternoon at four o'clock after a 4 hour recess but immediately took adjournment until 11 o'clock on Friday to await the report of the credential committee.

Chicago, June 20, 11:03 a. m.—Special to Telegraph—All Chicago was stirred this morning by rumors which spread like wildfire to the effect that Col. Theodore Roosevelt had withdrawn from the presidential race, following a night conference with his advisors, but these reports were repeatedly denied by his supporters, as were reports that the Colonel intended to bolt the convention.

The reports that the Roosevelt forces had rented Orchestra hall for their convention gave strength to the rumors that his delegates would follow him into a separate convention, but as the morning wore away it was evident that if the Roosevelt forces intend to bolt they did not intend to do so today.

Has Not Released Delegates.

When the credentials committee went into session at 9:30 o'clock, there were many rumors to the effect that the Colonel had released all of his instructed delegates and had told them to vote for whom they pleased, but these reports have been denied by O. M. Davis, Gov. Deneen and Senator Clapp of the Roosevelt forces.

Later, just before the convention was called to order for the third day session, a rumor was current that Teddy had withdrawn in favor of Hadley, but the report was also immediately denied from Roosevelt's headquarters. The story of today's progress is told in the following bulletins:

BULLETIN.

Credentials committee went into session at 9:30 o'clock. Committee-man Roy O. West of Illinois states that there will be no Roosevelt bolt.

11:30 A. M.

A rumor is current that Roosevelt has withdrawn in favor of Hadley. The Colonel is said to have released his instructed delegates. An immense crowd has gathered outside the Coliseum, making the entrance of ticket holders very difficult. Reports of Col. Roosevelt's withdrawal caused great excitement at the Coliseum.

It was also rumored this morning that President Taft would withdraw following the elimination of Roosevelt, but these reports were met by prompt and energetic denials by direct wire from the White House.

11:35 A. M.

At 11:30, O. M. Davis of the Roosevelt forces, issued a flat denial of the story that Col. Roosevelt had released his delegates or that he would do so.

12:20 P. M.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Root at noon when, on motion, a recess was taken until 4 p. m. to await the report of the credentials committee. A Roosevelt conference is set for 2 o'clock, at which one man from each delegation that has been instructed for the ex-president will meet to plan future action.

1 P. M.

The committee on organizations has voted 21 to 7 to make the temporary organization permanent. Following this action the minority members promptly left the room. 24 members of the committee were absent when this vote was taken.

1:10 P. M.

The number of contested delegates whom the Roosevelt forces want seated has been reduced from 78 to 50 by the action of the Roosevelt leaders in dropping the contests in Louisiana, Georgia, Kentucky, Michigan, Mississippi and Virginia.

1:30 P. M.

The credentials committee has defeated a motion to seat Roosevelt delegates in the 9th Alabama district by a vote of 34 to 14.

FLAMES DESTROY NEW YORK HOTEL

MIDNIGHT FIRE DRIVES GUESTS OUT IN NIGHT CLOTHES—ONE KILLED AND OTHERS WILL DIE—LOSS $300,000.

New York, June 20.—Special to Telegraph—Eight persons were injured, one of them fatally, in a fire that destroyed the Eldersburg hotel at Rockaway Beach early this morning. Patients in the hotel were panicked.

The flames were discovered by a woman guest and her hysterical shrieks aroused the others. The fire spread rapidly, however, and the inhabitants of the structure barely had time to make their escape, many of them being forced to flee clad only in their night clothes.

Several firemen were buried under a wall that fell while they were fighting the fire and some of them will die. The loss is estimated to be about $300,000.

TAFT MEN WIN SECOND VICTORY AT G. O. P. MEET

Hadley's Motion to Oust Contested Delegates Seated by Committee Lost by Vote of 564 to 510.

WATSON IN OPPOSITION

Gentleman From Indiana Moves to Table Proposition and Convention Promptly Does So.

DEBATE TORRID FROM START

Governor Hadley Makes Opening Speech—Receives Tumultuous Cheers as He Advances to Stage—W. T. Dovel of Washington Follows—Many Speakers Address Vast Audience From Each Side Amid Most Trying Circumstances—Chairman Root Remonstrates With Mr. Fynn of Pennsylvania—War Started in Indiana Delegation Over statement of Record—Death of the Party Predicted as a Result From the Factional Disturbances.

Chicago, June 20.—The Taft forces at the Republican national convention yesterday won what is regarded as its second victory in a test vote that defeated a motion to oust the delegates seated by the national committee which are contested by the Roosevelt faction. The first victory was in the selection of Root as temporary chairman.

The vote was on a motion by Governor Hadley of Missouri to refer the contests to the credentials committee with an amendment by Governor Deneen, that no delegate, whose seat was contested, be allowed to vote on the selection of the committee, or to vote on the adoption of the report of this body.

On motion of James Watson of Indiana the amendment was tabled by a vote of 564 to 510, after which the original motion was carried. Temporary Chairman Root then ruled that contested delegates seated by the national committee would be allowed to vote on all contests excepting their own.

The vote followed four hours of tumultuous scenes during which time the motion was debated by the delegates.

Governor Hadley opened the debate as he advanced toward the front of the stage to open the debate, a round of cheers from the Roosevelt forces greeted him. When the tumult subsided Governor Hadley began an explanation of the situation confronting the convention.

Could Have Used Force.

He reviewed the events of the previous day leading up to the ruling of National Committee Chairman Roosevelt, which quashed the Hadley motion to purge the temporary roll.

"We could have met immediately and forcibly this arbitrary and unconstitutional ruling," said Hadley, and he was roundly cheered. "We could have forcibly insisted on calling the roll on that motion and we could have been forcibly taken control. Instead we chose to wait patiently until today."

Governor Hadley did not attempt to go into details of various contested cases, saying he would leave that to other speakers. He read the "indictment" of the national committee as uttered by Colonel Roosevelt in his Monday night speech in this city, and it called out a big cheer.

"It may be true that there are many persons who do not agree with us that Theodore Roosevelt should be our candidate for president, but there can be no difference of opinion that his voice today is the greatest of the western world," said Hadley.

Then he read a statement from fourteen members of the national committee protesting against the action of the majority in seating many of the delegates, particularly in the California, Texas and Washington cases.

Governor Hadley made an earnest plea that personalities be left out of the fight, declaring the question was so clearly one of principle that it should not be involved by anything else. It was not a question of any man's candidacy, he said, not a question of the next campaign, but a question of the very existence of the Republican party itself.

Hadley was given the closest attention throughout. In closing he declared that when the vote on the sub-roll came he would contend that on the question submitted only the votes of those delegates whose seats were not contested be allowed.

"All law, all precedents agree," he said.

TO BUILD LARGE MODERN GARAGE

GEORGE STITZELL INTENDS TO ERECT A GARAGE ON BUILT LAND.

George Stitzell has contracted an improvement on Peoria avenue which will redeem a vacant lot, and which will give Dixon another garage. With dirt secured from the excavation of the Aschenbrenner-Spencer building he will fill in the lot between Third and Fifth streets through which the drainage ditch runs, first arching over the ditch. On this made land Mr. Stitzell will erect a modern garage, 80x150 feet. Philip Drenner has been engaged to superintend the work, which will be commenced at once.

RAY HOYLE WAS BADLY INJURED

BARBED WIRE INFLECTS GASH IN EYEBALL—TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Ray V. Hoyle, who resides on the Hoyle farm on rural route 6, south of the city, was painfully hurt late Wednesday afternoon, when a piece of barbed wire was thrown into his face, cutting his left eye severely. The young man was mowing with a scythe when the blade struck a long piece of the wire, hidden in the high growth. The wire was thrown upward into his face and the barbs cut two bad gashes in the left eye. He was brought to the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital at once, where surgeons attended his injuries. It was found that the eyeball had been cut, but the attending surgeon is hopeful of saving the sight of the eye.

CAVE-IN THREATENED DAVIES BUILDING

WORK ON THE ASCHENBRENNER BUILDING RESPONSIBLE FOR NEAR-DISASTER.

Work on the foundation of the new Aschenbrenner-Spencer building for which the excavation was completed last evening, was delayed today by a cave-in of considerable dirt from under the Davies building, which adjoins the site of the new building on the east. The cave-in was of considerable magnitude, and for a time assumed dangerous prospects, inasmuch as the building itself appears ready to fall. Contractor Mark Smith took charge of the work at once, and soon had the old building propped up. It required the teams nearly all day to remove the dirt that caved in.

SWINDLING THE PUBLIC.

It is the estimate of the chief inspector of the postoffice department that swindlers arrested last year through the agency of his office had already obtained 77 million dollars from the public; and even the vigilant postoffice detectives do not get all the swindlers who work through the mails. The best place for the circulars of the get rich quick concerns is the kitchen stove, and the time to put them there is before you read them.

AN OVERGROWN BOY.

There is an official in Dixon who seemed to have nothing better to do this afternoon than to tamper with the reports on the Telegraph's bulletin board at Eli's cigar store. You tack up another phony message, Bill, and we'll call your name right out in church.

Freepot Standard—While learning to ride the rear seat on the police motorcycle last night Officer Adam Wilkey fell off, and not until Officer Obalder, the official rider of the motorcycle, had been told by the people a block away from the place that Officer Wilkey had fallen off did he know of his comrade's absence.

DRAFT OF TAFT PLATFORM READY

Document Seeks to Unite All Warring Elements of the Party.

OPPOSES RADICAL CHANGES

Attacks Recall, Hits Child Labor, Raps Wars and Favors Anti-Trust Revision—Roosevelt and President Agree on Tariff.

Chicago, June 20.—A tentative draft of a platform has been made by the Taft forces which is intended to go as far as possible in uniting the factions within the party. Issues that now separate the warring elements are carefully avoided in the platform as now prepared and ready for submission to the convention. The "recall" is strongly condemned and all proposed revolutionary changes in governmental principles are opposed. The very first plank of the platform in substance says: "We reaffirm our devotion to the fundamental principles of constitutional government established by the fathers, principles which make provision for orderly and effective expression of the popular will and for the interpretation of the law by an untrammeled and independent judiciary, which principles have proved themselves capable of sustaining the structure of a government which endures 100,000,000 people."

Recites Growth of United States.

Plank two recites that under the Constitution the country has grown to be one of the greatest civilized nations of the earth, offering a home and opportunity to the ambitious and industrious of every race.

The third plank declares that the Republican party is prepared, if again entrusted with power, to go forward with the solution of all new problems which social, economic and political developments have brought into the foreground.

The next plank declares against child labor, favors the control of natural resources. There is another plank that declares for individualism and independent courts of justice. In the next paragraph the platform declares that the Republican party reaffirms its intention to uphold at all times the integrity and authority of the courts.

There is a plank favoring world peace and another that opposes special privileges and monopolies.

In the Roosevelt Platform.

The Roosevelt platform reaffirms the Rooseveltian position on popular government and declares for the direct preferential primary for presidential candidates and the direct election of United States senators. The initiative, referendum and recall of judges and judicial decisions, as now suggested, are recommended only for state application.

The platform praises the Republican party for its constructive accomplishments in the past and pledges it to progressive legislation in the future. It deals with many social problems, both in generalizations and specifically.

On the tariff issue there is practically no divergence between the Taft and Roosevelt ideas, both candidates favoring revision by the tariff commission plan, one schedule at a time, the protective principle to be maintained at the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. The Roosevelt document goes a step further in suggesting an industrial commission to ascertain just what benefit labor receives from the protective tariff.

Mr. Roosevelt's plank on the trust question suggests the appointment of a commission similar in power and authority to the interstate commerce commission, which shall regulate the trusts and enforce publicity among the corporations as the latter body now does among the railroads.

The Roosevelt platform would also commit the party to woman suffrage.

MRS. EMMERT FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Emmert of Nachusa will be held Saturday morning at the home in Nachusa at 10 o'clock and at 10:30 at the Brethren church on the Dixon-Franklin Grove road. Rev. Olin F. Shaw of Dixon will have charge of the services over the remains of the dearly beloved lady, whose soul has gone beyond.

It was a pretty home wedding the guests were privileged to witness in the artistically decorated parlor, white wedding bells and smilax forming the dainty and graceful decorations.

The bride and groom were attended by two pretty little flower girls, dressed in white and carrying pink roses, Misses Mary Eleanor Miller and Gladys Frye. Master Charles Hayes, wearing white, bore the ring in the chalice of a white lily. They preceded the bride and groom to the parlor.

The bride was girlish and sweet in a beautiful cream messaline with rich silk lace allover trimmings. She carried bride's roses.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated in pink carnations and smilax.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left last night on the midnight train for Omaha, where the groom is affiliated with Bradstreets and other business interests.

Her many Dixon friends regret exceedingly to see Mrs. Kennedy leave the city and her place will be difficult to fill. Ever sweet tempered and with ready tact and grace, willing to enter into the joys and happiness of those about her, she will be missed both socially and at the O. H. We bought a package of gum out of one of those patent gum vending machines last night, and thought the machine was one of the most clever contrivances we ever saw. Sign on John Fellows' pop cases: "John Fellows Bottling Works, Dixon, Ill." Rather (w)rocky lettering, that.

A slight error appeared in our story entitled "Exit Eugene" published in this col. yesterday. We stated that the man who had given Sir Gene the ticket had left the shop before he (Eugene) returned. That was an unintentional error, as it were. The man was waiting there for the vase, which he thought he had won, and his name is Charles F. Ankeny.

Francis Joseph Cahill and his bride worked a clever ruse on their friends and relatives after their wedding yesterday a. m., and by means of their strategy made a very clever getaway, avoiding the customary shower of good wishes. By purchasing tickets to LaSalle they misled their friends to believe they were going to leave on the I. C. train, southbound. Accordingly the crowd rushed to the depot just as the train pulled in and several of the more determined ones climbed aboard the train, enquiring if there was a bridal couple aboard. They were informed by some practical joker that there was, and that the happy ones had beaten it to the baggage car. At this stage of the proceedings the train started and the serenaders decided to ride to Amboy, thinking that after the train had started to move the bride and groom would return to the parlor car. They waited in vain, and when Amboy was reached learned that their victims were not aboard. However, they had the extreme pleasure of spending the entire afternoon in Amboy. In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Cahill were in Sterling waiting for the southbound Q train.

Common Sense Silo

The Silo Question Solved.

Walls are four inches thick and absolutely airtight. They are substantial and cannot collapse or blow down. There are no hoops or bands requiring constant readjustment.

The height not being fixed, it can be added to from year to year, as the herd increases, and meet the demand for increased storage capacity.

said, "that no man should be a judge in his own case."

Washington Man Follows.

Hadley was followed by W. T. Dovel of Washington, who argued in favor of the Taft delegates seated by the national committee from Washington.

Mr. Dovel characterized as "recklessly false" the statement credited to Colonel Roosevelt that an effort had been made to "steal" the Washington delegates. As one of the Taft delegates from the state, he declared there was no primary law in Washington.

"The declaration is utterly false," he declared, "that the state of Washington was ever carried by Theodore Roosevelt."

The recital of what Mr. Dovel said was "the facts" as to Washington, aroused the ire of Roosevelt delegates. The clerk, for the information of the convention, then read the list of delegates which the Hadley motion would strike from the roll and the list of those it would seat.

Allen of Kansas in Reply.

When the announcement was concluded Henry J. Allen of Kansas was presented to speak in support of the Hadley motion. The chair announced that he had been allotted twenty minutes.

Mr. Allen discussed the Washington cases in some detail, denouncing Dovel's statement as "filmy." Allen frequently was cheered by the Roosevelt delegates and laughed at by the Taft adherents.

Allen dealt in the figures of the primary held in Seattle. He said Colonel Roosevelt had got all but about 500 of the 6,000 votes cast.

A delegate asked him how many voters there were in Seattle. Allen admitted there probably were more than 100,000.

Senator Hemenway Next Speaker.

Allen was followed by former Senator James A. Hemenway of Indiana for the Taft forces.

Senator Hemenway declared that the work of the national committee had been done fairly and regularly.

"You are asked by a mere minority of the committee to overthrow the work of the majority," said Hemenway. "Thirteen members of the committee have signed this protest. 39 have seated these delegates. Now they ask you to uphold that minority without seeing the evidence, without getting at the facts."

"Why," he shouted, "would you leave this matter to a man like T. C. Du Pont of Delaware, representative of the powder trust?"

Hemenway insisted that only thirteen members of the national committee signed the protest, although Governor Hadley said that fourteen had signed it.

From the Pennsylvania delegation came a yell: "How about Penrose?"

Pending over and shaking his fist in the faces of the delegation, Hemenway, his face flushed, shouted: "Give me Penrose before Flinn, every time."

The Pennsylvanians went wild. Climbing upon their chairs and brandishing their fists they yelled epithets and vituperation at the speaker. Flinn himself took a prominent part in the demonstration.

Chairman Root Interferes.

Throughout the hall came yells and jeers and for a few moments tumult prevailed.

As the disorder continued in the Pennsylvania delegation, Senator Root came to the front of the stage, and, pointing to Flinn, he shouted:

"If the gentleman from Pennsylvania wishes to commend his cause to the just and honest members of this convention and the American people, he will cease to interfere with the delivery of a reasonable and decent argument."

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

National Convention at Baltimore Opens Next Tuesday.

Admitted That Choice of Candidates and Framing of Platform Will Be Influenced by Chicago Meeting.

Baltimore, June 20.—One thousand and seventy-four delegates will assemble in the Fifth Regiment armory in this city next Tuesday to name a candidate to run as the Democratic party's choice for president of the United States.

Theoretically the choice of the nominees and the framing of the platform are matters which the 1,074 delegates will take up as quite fresh subjects and on which they have varying opinions. It is generally admitted that the choice of candidates and the framing of the platform will depend in a great measure on the results of the Republican national convention now in session in Chicago.

National Chairman Mack of Buffalo, Secretary Woodson of Kentucky and the members of the committee on arrangements are in the city and today a meeting was held to complete the final details of the convention arrangements.

Taft Re-Elected by Yale Corporation.

New Haven, Conn., June 20.—President Taft was re-elected a member of the Yale corporation, as shown by the vote announced at the alumni dinner here. He received 3,231 votes of the 3,263 cast.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

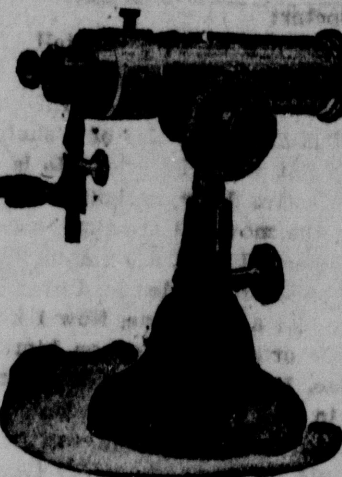

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."

—Mrs. JENNIE GREEN, Covington, Mo.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation. "I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon. "Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles."

IMAGINARY DISEASE—Many a physician has borne testimony that when he was a student at the medical college he had all the diseases that he read about in the medical books. He recognized the symptoms in himself every time he felt a little "under the weather."

This sort of thing is not confined to medical students. Every physician has had persons to come to him with an imaginary affliction in which the victim was certain he had it, bad. The doctor generally cures that patient with what is termed a "placebo," an inert patent medicine given to satisfy a patient; to placate him, so to speak. Both words are from the same root. A placebo is generally a candy pill, or a little water colored with some innocent dye.

Of these imaginary diseases heart disease is the most common. The stomach is overloaded or in some way inflated, mostly by gases, which conditions have the effect of crowding the diaphragm up into the heart's region, thereby interfering somewhat with that organ's action. This, however, does not indicate any organic trouble with this delicate but powerful part of the human system.

Frequently the same effect as that mentioned in the foregoing paragraph is caused by nervous sympathy with the stomach, brought about by acute indignation, of a great or less degree. In any degree it is distressing and may be avoided by care. For instance, one cup of coffee may, at times, be taken with comparative safety, when two cups would have a decided tonic effect. But coffee is in any way that it can be taken, highly deleterious to a delicate stomach.

Many persons read patent medicine circulars and other printed stuff of that character, in which all the ills that escaped from Pandora's box are described, as to symptoms, and some folks, if they have any sort of a stitch anywhere in the system, are at once led to believe that one or more of the afflictions so glaringly—and so ridiculously—portrayed there are just what is ailing them. They get some of this cure-all truck, and then if they escape with some real affliction it is a miracle.

The fact is that fleeting symptoms are generally indicative of nothing beyond one of the strings in your harp of life may be accidentally touched, for an instant, at the wrong place and there is a bit of discord. Tune up and go on. Forget it. In 99 cases out of every 100 you will be all right in the morning. When there is really something the matter that should be looked after by the doctor there will not be any doubt about it. Or if you have a cold, or some other trouble of a light nature, that gives you an ache or pain, here or there, give yourself a rest and a homely treat that you will always find in the Home Health Club's books, and your apprehensions will generally take a sudden flight.

Club Notes.

Dear Doctor:

I would like to have you tell me what to do for our little boy, 22 months old who has a naval rupture. It is about the size of a shelled hickory nut when he cries. He is a strong, active baby, weighs 35 lbs., and on the move all the time, except when asleep. I kept a band on him, with a piece of rounded lead over the rupture, for a long time. Now I keep a rubber or elastic band on him all the time. It is difficult to keep anything in the right place. He has been this way since he was two weeks old. Is there any cure? Can it be cured by an operation? I can hear the water gurgle in it when he goes back and forth. I have been using an egg ointment every night, but nothing I have done does any good. I am troubled about it.

Mrs. E. L. S.

There is no question but what a skillful surgical operation would cure the rupture but the danger lies in the anesthetic and the shock. No human being can tell with certainty what the after effects will be. In 95 cases out of every 100 a cure can be effected by a properly fitted truss and if it is properly fitted there will be no difficulty in keeping it in place.

Rubber bands are not advisable, as they interfere with the circulation and are uncomfortable, while a properly fitted truss will not be noticed after a few days. A complete cure is frequently brought about in a few weeks.

AT THE ALTAR

The question of eugenics is the most insistent subject with which society has to deal. The nation which permits the perpetuation of weaklings is a nation of peril. A Puritanical attitude of mind does not solve this problem—it simply overlooks it—and ignorance and false modesty have played havoc far too long.

Since the fact of sex is perpetual, why or how men and women continue to ape the ostrich (knowing that their children are sure to become sophisticated) is one of the most incomprehensible and ridiculous riddles of our time.

Instead of permitting boys and girls to acquire erroneous, distorted and lascivious impressions of the holiest phase of life, how much more sensible it is to forestall this inevitable experience by telling them nature's truth in a calm and reverent manner.

Man will not rise to the height of truths of existence are taught in truths of existence are taught in very childhood.

DEBAUCH HAS FATAL ENDING

Rockford, June 19.—A prolonged debauch, which had its start in Peoria, and ended in Rockford, was fatal to Harry Klein in the prime of his life, death coming to him in the county jail early Sunday morning. He leaves a wife and two children at Peoria, and two brothers at Springfield, Ill.

Klein was found Friday by Merchant Policeman Egan and lodged in the city jail. He was very ill, showing symptoms of dilerium tremens.

In view of the fact that Klein was extremely nervous when taken into custody, the opinion seems to be current on the street that the unfortunate should have been taken to the hospital instead of the county jail.

Sharples Milking Machine

Not since the invention of the self binder has the farming world been as interested in an invention as that of the Successful Milking Machine.

The binder is used only a few days a year at best while the milking must be done twice a day and 365 days in a year.

It is possible now to milk as many cows as you can house and feed.

One man can milk with 3 units 36 cow in 1 hour. The great problem of help, and the bother of milking will soon be over.

For some time the Sharples Separator Co., has been making and using this machine.

They have been used in the Eastern states for two years and are giving the best of satisfaction.

This picture shows one of the greatest milking cows in this country. She is milked all the time with the Sharples Mechanical Milker and her udder and teats are in the best of condition.

On the overhead pipe line is seen the pulsator, from this to the pail two rubber tubes extend.

The teat cups are shown in place, the milk passing through the tube from the base of teat cups to the pail.

This is the only part that the milk touches.

Sharples Separator Co.,
Chicago, Illinois.

Rockton, Ill., May 27, 1912.

Gentlemen—In regard to the Milking Machine installed by you over a month ago. Would like to advise that it is giving very good satisfaction, and as far as we are able to learn the cows are in as good condition as when machine was put on.

I would certainly advise any man milking twenty or more cows to give this machine a trial. If he once tries it he will never let it be taken out.

There is nothing that gets out of order.

Yours Very Respectfully,

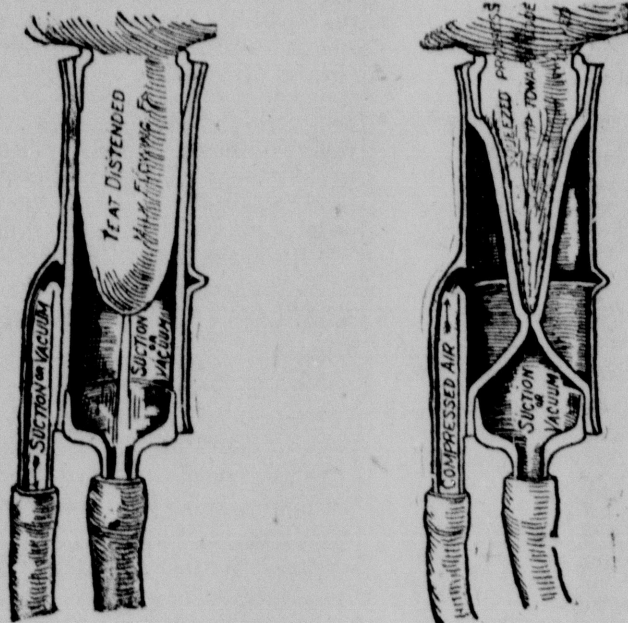

E. R. KEENEY.

The Teat Cup with the Upward Squeeze

The Sharples Mechanical Milker does not rely upon continuous suction in any form, but absolutely, positively and completely relieves the teat from such suction every second or two during milking, thereby milking the cow quickly and thoroughly and leaving the teats and udder soft, pliable, comfortable, cool and natural.

HOW IT WORKS

It is operated by alternate vacuum and suction, and compressed air. The vacuum draws the milk from the cow. The compressed air separates the vacuum from the teats every second or two, and thus relieves the teat and positively prevents any bad effects resulting from continuous suction. The alternate action of vacuum and compressed air is one of several reasons why The Sharples Milker is superior to and far in advance of other milkers.

This illustration shows how the teat cup does its work and prevents injury to the cow.

In the first illustration the vacuum caused by the pump at the engine and communicated by the overhead tubes is sucking milk, the rubber lining being drawn against the teat cup shell so as to allow plenty of room for the teat.

In the second illustration no milk is flowing; the vacuum has been cut off from contact with the teat by the compressed air which has entered at the side. This fills the space between the teat cup and the lining, forcing the rubber in against the teat and squeezes it from the point upward. The blood is thus forced back into circulation, and the teat is empty and soft.

Sharples Separator Co.,

Gentlemen—The Sharples mechanical Milker purchased from you in September 1910, is now on its second year of success with us. Beginning Oct. 1 1910, we milked from 40 to 80 cows every night and morning without fail. During that time I have watched the machine carefully and I have failed yet to find its first weakness. It seems to be in just as good order as it was the day it was installed. The herd is entirely free from garget cow-pox and diseases of the udder and the year's record of milk production compares favorably with that of the year before. I appreciate very much the work the machine has done for me and it is with pleasure that I offer this testimonial.

NEW STOMACH RELIEF GETS COUNTRY WIDE ENDORSEMENT

The new remedy for indigestion called "Digestit" has been found a certain quick relief and permanent remedy for stomach disorders. Letters from thousands who had suffered the tortures of indigestion and got relief from the use of Digestit, are evidence of its merit. The enormous increase in demand from every part of the country is proof of its popularity. But you do not have to take anybody's word for it—try it yourself on an absolute guarantee, get a package and if you don't get relief you can get your money back for the asking. Brown's Digestit is a little tablet easy to swallow and absolutely harmless. It digests all the food, prevents fermentation, stops gas formation, prevents stomach distress after eating, aids assimilation, relieves indigestion almost instantly and cures dyspepsia—50c. COMPARATIVE TUBERCULOSIS RATES.
While the tuberculosis rate is falling rapidly in every civilized country, due largely to vigorous campaigns against tuberculosis, recent figures given out by the International Congress on Tuberculosis at Rome show that from one-tenth to one-fourth of the total mortality of Europe is caused by this disease. The approximate number of deaths in each million population from tuberculosis in certain countries are indicated by the following table:
Russia—4,000.	Italy—1,800.
Austria-Hungary—3,500.	Scotland—1,700.
France—3,000.	United States—1,600.
Germany—2,200.	England—1,400.
Holland—1,900.

The United States death rate is for only a little more than half the population or for the registration area, and is not strictly comparable with the others.

If Asked to Designate the Best Method of Lighting a House, Your Reply of Course Would Be "By Electric Light"

One of the large facts hammered out by our experience is that if an average house is without electric light, it is because it does not happen to be equipped for it.

We meet that demand by a plan of wiring houses at cost and spreading the monthly payments over a period of two years.

An important function of our house wiring department is to ascertain ways to reduce the cost of wiring. Because it is to the interest of all concerned that it be as low as possible.

We've got results from that department of costs. The expense of wiring a house has been brought down where it is low. And that statement refers to little houses as well as large ones.

If the subject interests you—and we're very sure it will if your house is not wired—a telephone call on our office or a postal card will bring in response a representative who will estimate the cost of wiring and give you full details of the plan.

Item of importance: An old house is wired just as easily as a new one. No inconvenience to the occupants.

QUEER FISHES OF THE SEA

Those That Live Down in the Deep Are Grotesque and Chimerical.

Cuba ends to the south in a huge hammer of mountains 8,000 feet high and steeping sheer into the sea. The wall does not end there, but continues its precipitous descent into the 700-mile-long abyss called Bartlett's deep. This gigantic submarine valley is nearly four miles deep and 80 miles wide.

At a mile and a half, the pressure of the water is nearly two tons to the square inch; the ooze that comes up from such a depth, though the equator runs overhead, is cold as hoar frost; it is ten times certain that no vegetation can grow there.

As in our world none but the vegetables are able to make food, it ought to follow that in the depths of the sea there should be no animal life. As a matter of fact, these glooms are inhabited by the most grotesque and chimerical of all fishes. It would seem as though in the darkness life had taken every imaginable license to be ugly and bizarre. Cannibalism is evidently the only method of life, and its equipment runs to every kind of extravagance.

There are fish with teeth so long that they cannot close their mouths; fish that draw their stomach over prey larger than themselves; fish with no more mouth than a leech, and getting their living as leeches; fish with huge, myopic eyes, and fish frankly blind. Probably none of them comes from depths quite beyond the region of light, though a great many of them go poking about their ghoulish business furnished with lanterns of the glow-worm type.

BLACK BREAD OF GUETERSLOH

How Bismarck Started Craze for Westphalian Pumpernickel and Made Fortune of Bakers.

Guetersloh was a town of some fifteen hundred inhabitants some eighty years ago when, one day during the maneuvers, a young lieutenant took up his quarters there. This lieutenant came from Pomerania, where they also make black bread of fine quality, but he liked better the peculiar flavor of the Westphalia article. His name was Bismarck.

In the year 1870 Bismarck was again traveling through Guetersloh, this time as chancellor. King William was with him. When the train stopped the prime minister called out genially to the crowd that had come to meet them:

"Is there any one who can get us some pumpernickel with butter?"

As a number of reporters were present when this query was made the fortune of the Guetersloh black bread was made, and it speedily became the fashion all over Germany. The craze for Westphalian pumpernickel spread far and wide, cunningly furthered by the bakers who now baked for export only small one-pound loaves, for the purpose of making it look "more like a delicatessen," as they say.

The bakers of Guetersloh were worldly wise, for from the same kneading-troughs there go into the oven first the huge loaves (certain of these that go to the farm-houses often weighing half a hundredweight) and then, shaped of what is left, the tiny loaves that are wrapped in paper and exported to all parts of the world to be sold at a delicatessen.

WHAT THE BOY

SCOUTS ARE DOING

Guy Beacon, a boy scout 15 years old, of Medford, Oregon, used the principles of first aid to the injured on himself recently after having been shot in the right leg. The bullet grazed the femoral artery. He immediately employed the emergency principles to stop the flow of blood making a tourniquet and rode a horse five miles to the nearest telephone and called his father and a physician.

Boy scouts of Somerset, Mass., are doing a distinctive community service in getting after the caterpillars. They are searching the trees, bushes and flower plants for the little creatures that do a great deal of destruction. E. W. D. Merrill is their scout master.

MILITIA BOYS ON LONG HIKE.

Sheriff Reid had as guests at his home last night David Shand and Harry Jones of Springfield, two young men belonging to the national guard who are taking a long hike. The young men, one of whom is a son of Col. Shand, of the adjutant general's office, are marching slowly and are equipped in heavy marching order. They are bound for Rockford, from which city they will go to Belvidere, where they will join the U. S. regulars, who will march from Chicago to Sparta, Wis., where the Third battalion, which includes the Sixth regiment, will camp. From Sparta the young men will hike to Chicago. Deputy Sheriff Phillips assisted them on their journey by taking them as far as Grand Detour in his launch this morning.

Justice W. G. Kent went to Chicago this morning for a short business visit.

CHAPTER XI.

Now Riddle Me This.

The children were sitting in the swing. Florence Hammer, a little girl whose mother was spending the day at Miss Minerva's, was with them.

"Don't you all wish Santa Claus had his birthday right now 'stead o' waiting till Christmas to hang up our stockings?" asked Frances.

"Christmas isn't Santa Claus' birthday," corrected Lina. "God was born on Christmas and that's the reason we hang up our stockings."

"Yes; it's old Santa's birthday, too," argued Jimmy. "Cause it's in the Bible and Miss Cecilia 'splained it to me and she 'bout the dandiest 'splainer they is."

"Which you'll like the best: God or Doctor Sanford or Santa Claus?" asked Florence.

"I like God 'nother sight better'n I do anybody," declared Jimmy. "Cause he so forgivingsome. He's 'bout the forgivingest person they is. Santa Claus can't let you go to Heaven nor Doctor Sanford neither, nor our papas and mamas nor Miss Minerva. Now wouldn't we be in a pretty fix if we had to 'pend on Doctor Sanford or Santa Claus to forgive you every time you run off or fall down and bust your breeches. Naw; gimme God ev'ry time."

"I like Santa Claus the best," declared Frances. "Cause he isn't f'r ever getting in your way, and hasn't any castor oil like Doctor Sanford, and you don't f'r ever have to be telling him you're sorry you did what you did, and he hasn't all time got one eye on you either, like God, and got to follow you 'round. And Santa Claus don't all time say, 'Shet your eyes and open your mouth,' like Doctor Sanford, and poke out your tongue."

"I like Doctor Sanford the best," said Florence. "Cause he's my uncle, and God and Santa Claus ain't kin to me."

"And the Bible says, 'Love your kin-folks,' Miss Cecilia 'splained—"

"I use to like my Uncle Doc 'heap better'n what I do now," went on the little girl, heedless of Jimmy's interruption. "Till I went with daddy to his office one day. And what you reckon that man's got in his office? He is got a 'dead man 'thout no meat nor 'f'oes on, nothing a tall but just his bones."

"Was he a hant?" asked Billy. "I like the Major best—he's got meat on."

"Naw; he didn't have no sheet on—just bones," was the reply.

"No sheet on; no meat on!" chirruped Billy, glad of the rhyme.

"Was he a angel, Florence?" questioned Frances.

"Naw; he didn't have no harp and no wings neither."

"It must have been a skeleton," explained Lina.

"And Uncle Doc? Just keep that poor man there and won't let him go to Heaven where dead folks 'bongs."

"I spec' he wasn't a good man 'fore he died and got to go to the Bad place," suggested Frances.

"Till betcher he never asked God to forgive him when he 'celved his papa and gassed his mama,"—this from Jimmy,—and Doctor Sanford's just a-keeping old Satan from getting him to toast on a pitchfork."

"I hope they'll have a Christmas tree at Sunday-School next Christmas," said Frances, harking back. "and I hope I'll get a heap o' things like I did last Christmas. Poor little Tommy Knott he's so skeered he wasn't going to get nothing at all on the tree so he got him a great, big, red apple an' he wrote on a piece o' paper 'From Tommy Knott to Tommy Knott,' and tied it to the apple and put it on the tree for hisself."

"Let's ask riddles," suggested Lina.

"All right," shouted Frances. "I'm going to ask the first."

"Naw; you ain't neither," objected Jimmy. "You all time got to ask the first riddle. I'm going to ask the first one—"

"Round as a biscuit, busy as a bee, Prettiest little thing you ever did see?"

"A watch."

"Humpty Dumpty set on a wall, Humpty Dumpty had a great fall, All the king's horses and all the king's men, Can't put Humpty Dumpty back again."

"A egg."

"Round as a ring, deep as a cup, All the king's horses can't pull it up."

"A well."

"House full, yard full, can't catch—"

"Hush, Jimmy!" cried Lina, in disgust. "You don't know how to ask riddles. You must not give the answers, too. Ask one riddle at a time and let some one else answer it."

"As I was going through a field of wheat

I picked up something good to eat,

'Twas neither fish nor flesh nor bone,

I kept it till it ran alone?"

"A snake! A snake!" guessed Florence. "That's a easy riddle."

"Snake, nothing!" scoffed Jimmy. "You can't eat a snake. 'Sides Lina wouldn't 'a picked up a snake."

"It a little baby rabbit, Lina?"

"It was neither fish nor flesh nor bone," she declared; "and a rabbit is flesh and bone."

"Then it's boun' to be a apple," was Jimmy's next guess; "that ain't no flesh and blood and it's good to eat."

"An apple can't run alone," she triumphantly answered. "Give it up? Well, it was an egg and it hatched to a chicken. Now, Florence, you ask one."

"S'pose a man was locked up in a house," she asked, "how'd he get out?"

"Clam' outer a winder," guessed Billy.

"I wa'n't no winder to the house," she declared.

"Crawled out th'oo the chim'y, like Santa Claus," was Billy's next guess.

"I wa'n't no chim'y to it. Give it up? Give it up?" the little girl laughed gleefully. "Well, he just broke out with measles."

"It is Billy's time," said Lina, who seemed to be mistress of ceremonies.

"Tabernicle learnt this here one at school; see if y'all can guess it: 'Tabby had four kittens but Stillsee didn't have none 't all.'"

"I don't see no sense a tall in that," argued Jimmy. "Thout some bad little boys drowned 'em."

"Tabby was a cat," explained the other boy, "and she had four kittens; and Stillsee was a little girl, and she didn't have no kittens 't all."

"What's this," asked Jimmy. "A man rode 'cross a bridge and Fido walked?" Had a little dog name 'Fido'."

"You didn't ask that right, Jimmy," said Lina, "you always get things wrong. The riddle is, 'A man rode across the bridge and Yet he walked,' and the answer is, 'He had a little dog named Yet who walked across the bridge.'"

"Well, I'd 'nother sight ruther have a little dog name 'Fido,'" declared Jimmy. "I little dog name 'Yet' and a little girl name 'Stillsee' ain't got no 'enso a tall to it."

"Why should a hangman wear suspenders?" asked Lina. "I'll bet nobody can answer that."

"To keep his breeches from falling off," triumphantly answered Frances.

"No, you goose, a hangman should wear suspenders so that he'd always have a gallows handy."

"CHAPTER XII.

In the House of the Lord.

It was a beautiful Sunday morning.

The pulpit of the Methodist Church was not occupied by its regular pastor, Brother Johnson. Instead, a traveling minister, collecting funds for a church orphanage in Memphis, was the speaker for the day. Miss Minerva rarely missed a service in her own church. She was always on hand at the Love Feast and the Missionary Rally and gave liberally of her means to every cause. She was sitting in her own pew between Billy and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Garner having remained at home. Across the aisle from her sat Frances Black, between her father and mother; two pews in front of her were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, with Lina on the outside next the aisle. The good Major was there, too; it was the only place he could depend upon for seeing Miss Minerva.

The preacher, after an earnest and eloquent discourse from the text, "He will remember the fatherless," closed the big Bible with a bang calculated to wake up any who might be sleeping. He came down from the pulpit and stood close to his hearers as he made his last pathetic appeal.

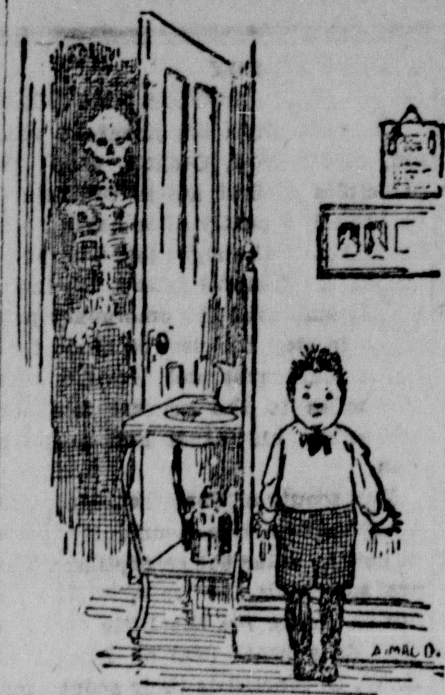

"My own heart," said he, "goes out to every orphan child, for in the yellow fever epidemic of '78, when but two years old, I lost both father and mother. If there are any little orphan children here today, I should be glad if they would come up to the front and shake hands with me."

Now Miss Minerva always faithfully responded to every proposal made by a preacher; it was a part of her religious conviction. At revivals she was ever a shining, if solemn and austere, light. When a minister called for all those who wanted to go to Heaven to rise, she was always the first one on her feet. If he asked to see the raised hands of those who were members of the church at the tender age of ten years, Miss Minerva's thin, long arm gave a prompt response. Once when a celebrated evangelist was holding a big protracted meeting under canvas in the town and had asked those who had read the book of Ezekiah in the Bible to stand up, Miss Minerva on one side of the big tent and her devoted lover on the other side were among the few who had risen to their feet. She had read the good book from cover to cover, from Genesis to Revelation over and over so she thought she had read Ezekiah a score of times.

So now, when the preacher called for little orphans to come forward, she leaned down and whispered to her nephew, "Go up to the front, William, and shake hands with the nice kind preacher."

"What'fer?" he asked. "I don't want to go up there; ev'body here'll look right at me."

"Are there no little orphans here?"

the minister was saying. "I want to shake the hand of any little child who has had the misfortune to lose its parents."

"Go on, William," commanded his aunt. "Go shake hands with the preacher."

The little boy again demurred but, Miss Minerva insisting, he obediently slipped by her and by his chum. Walking gracefully and jauntily up the aisle to the spot where the lecturer was standing by a broad table, he held out his slim, little hand.

Jimmy looked at these proceedings of Billy's in astonishment, not comprehending at all. He was rather indignant that the older boy had not confided in him and invited his participation.

But Jimmy was not the one to sit calmly by and be ignored when there was anything doing, so he slid awkwardly from the bench before Miss Minerva knew what he was up to. Signaling Frances to follow, he swaggered pompously behind Billy and he, too, held out a short, fat hand to the minister.

The speaker smiled benignly down upon them; lifting them up in his arms he stood the little boys upon the table. He thought the touching sight of these innocent and tender little orphans would empty the pockets of the audience. Billy turned red with embarrassment at his conspicuous position, while Jimmy grinned happily at the amused congregation. Horrified Miss Minerva half rose to her feet, but decided to remain where she was. She was a timid woman and did not know what course she ought to pursue. Besides, she had just caught the Major's smile.

"And how long have you been an orphan?" the preacher was asking of Billy.

"Ever sence me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln's born," sweetly responded the child.

"I 'bout the orphanest boy they is," volunteered Jimmy.

Frances, responding to the latter's invitation, had crawled over her father's legs before he realized what was happening. She, too, went smiling down the aisle, her stiff white dress standing straight up in the back like a strutting gobbler's tail. She grabbed hold of the man's hand, and was promptly lifted to the table beside the other "orphans." Tears stood in the good preacher's eyes as he turned to the tittering audience and said in a pathetic voice, "Think of it, my friends, this beautiful little girl has no mother."

Poor Mrs. Black! A hundred pairs of eyes sought her pew and focused themselves upon the pretty young woman sitting there, red, angry, and shamed. Mr. Black was visibly amused and could hardly keep from laughing aloud.

As Frances passed by the Hamiltons' pew in her promenade down the aisle, Mrs. Hamilton leaned across her husband and made an attempt to clutch Lina; but she was too late; already that dignified little "orphan" was gliding with stately, conscious tread to join the others. This was too much for the audience. A few boys laughed out and for the first time the preacher's suspicions were aroused. As he clasped Lina's slender, graceful little hand he asked:

"And you have no father or mother, little girl?"

"Yes, I have, too," she angrily retorted. "My father and mother are sitting right there," and she pointed a slim forefinger to her crimson, embarrassed parents.

Gentleman From Indiana in His Closing Argument Made Statement That Caused All the Uproar—Difficult at First to Tell Whether Outburst Was Wholly for State Executive or for Him as the Representative of the Ex-President—Leaders Wear Broad Smiles—William Jennings Bryan Recalls Days of 1893 When, on a Similar Occasion in the Democratic Convention, He Swept Everything Before Him.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 20.—James Watson of Indiana, the Taft floor manager at the Republican national convention, unconsciously started a boom for Governor Hadley of Missouri yesterday that promises to result in the naming of the Missouri executive as the party's candidate for president.

Colonel Roosevelt intimated last evening that he would not stand in the way of the selection of Hadley as a compromise candidate, and Roosevelt delegates in the hotels were freely predicting that the colonel would throw his strength to the man from Missouri if, after the first ballot, it seemed that he could not himself get a majority of the delegates.

Hadley Very Popular.

The Hadley boom did not lose any of its momentum during the night, and as the convention opens today his name is heard everywhere as the dark horse so many have been looking for.

Governor Hadley was in no way a party to his sudden plunge into the arena of possible nominees. He had originally moved to substitute a temporary roll prepared by the Roosevelt leaders for that prepared by the national committee. The carrying of the motion would have taken from the roll of the convention the names of 78 Taft delegates and substituted 78 Roosevelt delegates. Four hours had been granted for the discussion of the motion, and the debate developed into the bitterest kind of personalities, creating a continuous uproar. Governor Hadley led the debate for the motion and Mr. Watson led the opposition forces. Just as Mr. Watson was completing the closing argument he made the statement that he was authorized to say for the gentleman from Missouri that he was willing to have the entire dispute referred to the credentials committee. He did not complete the statement which he intended to make. Governor Hadley was on his feet instantly to protest.

Cheer Hadley for 41 Minutes.

But his protest remained unspoken for 41 minutes. Before he could utter a word the entire Roosevelt delegation was on its feet cheering, and the more effort Chairman Root made to quell the tumult the louder it became.

"We want Hadley! Hadley! Hadley! We want Hadley for president," echoed and re-echoed through the great hall.

It was taken up by the galleries. Then the Taft delegates joined in the uproar, many of them calling for Hadley.

The members of the Missouri delegation carried their standard to the platform where the governor sat. California's Teddy bear joined the Missouri standard, while close behind California came New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Oklahoma and other states. Senator Flinn grabbed the Pennsylvania standard and placed it beside that of Missouri.

The governor added his efforts to those of the chairman in attempting to quell the tumult, but it grew rather than diminished. Various state delegations divided on the subject, a portion of the delegates attempting to add the state emblems to those already at the platform, while others fought to prevent the indications of a preference for the man from Missouri, and these contests added to the uproar.

Turn Enthusiasm to Roosevelt.

It was a Hadley demonstration, the greatest that has ever been witnessed in a national convention, until Mrs. W. B. Davis of Chicago unfurled a large picture of Roosevelt from the gallery and attempted to turn the enthusiasm to the colonel. She succeeded to some extent, temporarily, at least. After she had led the cheering from the gallery for several minutes she was taken to the platform and held the attention of the convention for a quarter of an hour longer.

It was nearly an hour from the time

AN HONOR FOR ILLINOIS.

It does not seem so very long ago that the University of Illinois was sneeringly referred to as "the farmers' school" and educators paid little attention to it. But things have changed. It is a point of importance to refer to it now as one of the greatest agricultural schools or colleges in the world and those who used to sneer are now proud to speak of its merits.

But the university has lately had a new honor which must be regarded as important. Last winter the Australian government offered a prize of $9,000 for the best design and plans for the elaborate and costly capital building it is about to erect, the competition to be open to the world. Architects in Germany, France England and the United States entered, there being 76 altogether in the competition.

The contest has now been decided and the prize was awarded to Walter B. Griffin, a graduate in the class of 1899 in the University of Illinois. The University authorities look upon this event as one of the most important things that has ever happened to the institution. That an institution just growing into importance in a comparatively new section of the country should furnish the qualifications for winning in a contest like this against the alumni of the oldest and most famous schools of the world is something for the people of Illinois to take notice.

MARINES IN DANGER

U. S. BATTLESHIP RUSHED TO SANTIAGO, CUBA.

Force Under Captain Manwaring at El Cuero Menaced by Rebel Negroes—Navy Department Acts Quickly.

Washington, June 20.—The battleship Mississippi was rushed from Guantanamo to Santiago by the navy department on the official confirmation of the news that the marines under Captain Manwaring at El Cuero were in danger.

Captain Manwaring is the officer of marines who has already withstood three attacks from the rebel negro troops. His force is estimated here as only 125 men.

The Mississippi has on board probably 200 marines and she can in addition send ashore 500 bluejackets. The orders from the state department through the navy department to the Mississippi were to land forces and it is assumed here that the order has been carried out.

BEHM GRILLED BY DARROW

Uncle of McManigal Subjected to Severe Cross-Examination by Accused Attorney.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—George Behm, uncle of Orville McManigal, was put through a merciless examination by Clarence Darrow.

Darrow directed his attack mainly at Behm's assertion that Darrow had instructed him to testify falsely before the grand jury last August in answer to any questions as to his efforts to get McManigal to repudiate his confession.

Behm frequently got lost in the tangle of questions and answers, probably as much on account of dullness of comprehension as for any other cause.

OPEN LETTER TO EDITOR LANDERS OF OREGON

J. T. Williams, delegate to the national republican convention has sent the following open letter to Editor Landers of Oregon, Ill.:

Sterling, June 14, 1912.

Editor Ogle County Republican, Oregon, Ill.

Dear Sir:

It has just been called to my attention that in a recent issue of your paper an article appeared criticizing my attitude on certain matters, which article must have been based on misinformation.

The article states that I sent a petition to Col. Lowden calling on him to vote in favor of Roosevelt because Illinois voted for Roosevelt.

The telegram which was sent to Mr. Lowden made no such statement, furthermore was neither sent nor circulated by me, although I did sign it, and furthermore believe it was perfectly right and proper. What the telegram said is as follows:

"The republicans of this vicinity protest against the way the national committee is unseating Roosevelt delegates and call upon you as the Illinois member of that committee to use every influence you command to obtain fair play and justice, as the acts of the committee are making democratic votes out of republican votes, and such acts, if continued, mean the disruption of the republican party."

This telegram speaks for itself and in no way contains any statements credited to it in your article. I assume that your article was based on misinformation and that you believe in fair play and justice; if so I trust that you will publish this answer to the article in equally as prominent a place as you published it.

I would further say that at Roosevelt was the overwhelming choice of the voters, expressed at a fair primary, not only in the 13th congressional district, but the state of Illinois as well, that any man who is elected a delegate to the national convention would misrepresent the people who elected him if he did not use every honorable means and effort to promote the nomination of Roosevelt at that convention.

It has been my pleasure within the last month to meet many of the active workers for Roosevelt. I have found them honest, sincere men who are fighting for what they believe to be right. Almost all of them are men of high standing in their communities, men who, heretofore, have not taken an active interest in politics, but men who are fighting for principles rather than the hope of political reward.

In all fairness, the same cannot be said of the great bulk of men working in the interest of Taft. They are largely men who have been politicians all their lives, who live out of politics, and as to which group of men are doing the fair, honorable thing, playing the game fairly and not attempting to take undue advantage of the other side, the actions of the two conflicting sides speak louder and more emphatically than anything I can say.

In conclusion I simply wish to say, as far as my own position is concerned, I went into this fight because I believed in the principles that Col. Roosevelt represents and believe him the best fitted man in public life to carry out these principles.

I have never held any political office, appointive or elective; there is no political office, elective or appointive, that would be within my reach that I would have under any circumstances. I have made this fight because I believed it a fight for principles, at the expense of considerable time and money to myself, without hope of political reward, or desire of political reward.

I do not ask everyone to agree with me. This is a free country. Everyone has a right to his own opinion. All I ask is justice and fair play and that my position be not, either intentionally or unintentionally, misrepresented by your paper or any other.

My own actions in the matter have been and will continue open and above board. Everyone knows where I stand and that I am prepared to go as far as I am capable of going in any fair and decent manner to further the interests of Roosevelt and principles he stands for.

Yours truly,
J. T. WILLIAMS.
